

ENGINEERINGRID

Dein Beitrag macht
den Unterschied.

Intern Materials and Process Engineer 80-100% (m/f)

SAFETY IS DECISIVE.

RUAG AG makes a significant contribution to the security of Switzerland and employs around 2,500 employees. As a future oriented technology partner of the Swiss Army, we develop market-leading solutions for the life cycle management of military systems and ensure mission readiness at all times.

Are you looking for a challenging and interesting internship from February to August 2024? You will be working on-site in Emmen next to the military airfield. You support the Swiss Air Force (SAF) fleet by contributing in the following manner:

YOUR RESPONSIBILITIES

- Support in the performance of material test: create procedures, create documents for data collection, evaluate results and create test reports
- Coordinate testing activities
- Support qualification of new surface treatments for metallic alloys
- Support Production Organization with documents for specimens manufacturing
- Participate in the process specifications improvement project
- Perform material failure investigation on aircraft parts
- Follow up material procurement with logistic department

YOUR PROFILE

- Enrolled in technical studies (BSc, MSc) from an accredited institution in Materials Engineering or equivalent field of studies
- Motivated individual with interest in the aeronautical sector
- Interest in aeronautical materials and manufacturing processes
- Good communication and writing skills in English and German
- Good knowledge of Microsoft Office package
- Proactive
- Teamplayer
- Compliant with Swiss Security Clearance and ITAR Clearance requirements

YOUR CONTRIBUTION MAKES THE DIFFERENCE

Because you know what you want. We offer you scope for ideas and independence. Share your fascination for pioneering technologies with professional colleagues. Take on responsibility together with us and make a significant contribution to the security of Switzerland. We are looking forward to your application.

YOUR CONTACT

Have we caught your interest for new professional horizons? Then we look forward to receive your online application.

RUAG AG
Beat Müller | Senior HR Manager
Tel. +41 58 483 78 82 | www.ruag.ch

